

Medical Treatment in Germany

In the heart of the Ruhr region – Germany's largest polycentric urban region – the three clinics of the Catholic St. Lukas Society offer a competent state-of-the-art medical service, strictly based on modern standards. The central location makes it possible to offer a wide range of medical standards common to Germany for patients from other nations as well.

The Catholic St. Lukas Society gladly takes on the challenge to fulfill the highest expectations for quality in the medical service and preventive medical screening combined with the best possible comfort for our patients.

Our physicians work strictly according to the guidelines of professional medical societies, which encompass the latest contemporary developments in prevention, diagnosis, and therapy. Our nurses and other medical staff are continuously trained and educated. High standards of hygiene and modern technical equipment are a matter of course.

All our institutions undergo constant quality management. Their work is supervised by independent institutions and is certified according to KTQ and the German Cancer Society (Deutsche Krebsgesellschaft).

Cooperation and merging of competences are guiding principles. Outpatient treatment is provided by our connection to the Medical Center at the St.-Josefs-Hospital. Our membership in the Centre for the treatment of intestinal diseases (Darmzentrum Ruhr) constitutes involvement with the university and research sector. Our physicians regularly organize interdisciplinary case conferences and optimize their cooperation in quality circles.

Travel assistance and on-the-spot support

Because of its central location, the Ruhr region can easily be reached from places all over the world. The Catholic St. Lukas Society runs contact offices in those countries from which patients can come to Germany. There you can obtain information about our preventive and therapeutic services.

You will be helped with all the necessary preparations and travel plans right in your home country. Normally, it is possible to assist patients from foreign countries with translators. In our offices you can arrange appointments and plan your travel, request options, and ask for a quotation.

There are excellent flight connections to Dortmund or Düsseldorf. In Germany you will be picked up from the airport and assisted by an English speaking member of staff from the Catholic St. Lukas Society.
